There has been such a beautiful response from each of you expressing concern for our brothers and sisters in Peru. Thank you for your prayers, ceremonies and well wishes extended to the people of Cusco, the Sacred Valley, and effected areas. We have heard from our medicine people, and they and their families are well. They send their gratitude to you for your prayers.

At the moment, it has stopped raining giving people a chance to regroup and assess. We have heard that there are over 10,000 people without homes. Most homes are built with adobe bricks, which have been either washed away by the floods, or broken beyond repair by mud slides. The Sacred Valley continues to deal with flooding in areas, the bridge across the Urumbamba River will be under repair soon. Machu Picchu will remain closed until the end of March.

There is a need for aid in the rebuilding of homes. We have gathered the pricing of materials to give you an idea of the costs involved to rebuild a home. As you are well aware, it is beyond the means of the people to rebuild without assistance.

We have an opportunity to participate in our Peruvian Ayllu, and offer whatever support we can. Please continue with prayers, and sitting with your mesas.

If you wish to donate funds towards the rebuilding effort, our team in Cusco and Maras, will purchase and distribute the materials.

Our prayers continue to be with the people of Peru.

In Spirit,

The Andean Research Institute
